

A Self-Assessment Tool to Determine if Divorce Mediation is Right for You

---

Check each statement that you feel you both can agree upon.

---

- Your marriage is really over.
You both agree that there is no chance to save your marriage and wish to separate and/or divorce.

---

- You both want to retain control over your own decisions.
You want to decide what is fair and reasonable for your settlement and your children's best interests – not have the court decide. You don't want to endure the pain and uncertainty of litigation with an overworked court system.

---

- You both want to do what's best for your children.
You both wish to protect your children from the potentially devastating emotional impact that separation and divorce can have on them.

---

- You both want to be informed.
You want the advice and guidance of a neutral, non-biased, expert to assist you in making the most sensible decisions for your marital settlement agreement.

---

- You both do not want to spend a lot of money.
You do not want to risk losing up to 75% of your net worth by litigating in court and are seeking a more cost-effective option to start your new life on a healthier financial footing.

---

- You don't want to hurt each other emotionally or financially.
You are worried about a 2-4 year battle, exhausting litigation proceedings, and the emotional toll this may take on you and your children.

---

Did you check yes for all?
If so, you are likely a great fit for divorce mediation.

Contact Carol Corbett, Ph.D., LPC, NCC, CDM at (484) 863-1010
to schedule an appointment.